

CHITTOOR KOTTARAM KERALA

As the monsoon rains are ready to provide the perfect backdrop to your romantic escape, we suggest you take a break at God's Own Country. A world of warm, laidback, and elegant hospitality waits you at Chittoor Kottaram. Resting on the banks of the quaint backwaters of Kerala, the heritage mansion is witness to over three centuries of history. Today, Chittoor Kottaram is the home of Lady Hanlyn of The Hellen Hanlyn Trust and she has partnered with CGH Earth to bring this experience to holiday makers seeking privacy.

DO

Enjoy the fresh catch of the day and some of Kerala's authentic dishes by the waterside dining option with a view of the lake, at the gazebo, or in the open garden. Let their Ayurveda therapists treat you to holistic well-being, as you enjoy some couple time in the lap of nature.

SEE

SERENE MOMENTS:
A sunset cruise on the backwaters will take you on a tour of the kingdom, while you pass by the pristine villages nestled amidst serenading coconut grooves.

We simply love how the wooden roofs that spell understated rustic charm are set against the magnificent architecture rooted in a bygone era. Walk across the old cement-tiled corridor featuring floral patterns, once graced by kings and queens. There are two bedrooms on the ground floor, and one on the first floor with an attached living room. The spaces are embellished with antique furniture and artefacts, each with a story to tell. At the entrance, your personal entourage extends a traditional welcome. The management can arrange for traditional dance and music performances for guests. All in all, a rejuvenating experience for travellers.
